Dear

Good Day.

I trust this message finds you well. Allow me to provide an overview of recent developments in the sesame seed market:

Arrivals and Crop Trends:

- After a successful summer crop between May and June 2024, sesame seed arrivals have gradually declined. Currently, we observe daily arrivals of approximately 100-150 tons across all market yards in Gujarat. By the end of July, this is expected to further recede to 75-80 tons per day.
- Farmers have been preoccupied with sowing the new crop, leading to reduced interest in bringing material to auction yards over the past two weeks.
- Recent rainfall, although initially below normal for June, has been beneficial for sesame cultivation. Catch-up rain in July has positively impacted growing areas, including Mumbai.

Sowing Data:

- As of last week, sesame seeds were sown across 561,000 hectares. This compares to 715,000 hectares during the same period in 2023.
- More precise figures will be available by mid-August, considering delays in data flow to the government and the influence of rainfall timing on planting patterns this season as compared to last year.

Freight Rates:

- Freight rates to the EU, USA, Russia, and other westbound destinations remain volatile, affecting our trade operations to these destinations.
- Fortunately, Far East freight rates have increased but remain manageable due to lower numbers. However, congestion and extended voyage times pose challenges for shipments to this region, impacting inventory management.
