Dear

Sesame Market Report - September 2024

Weather Conditions

- Heavy rainfall across several parts of India since last week
- Mix of extended wet spells and intermittent bursts
- Consensus among local soothsayers and scientific weather departments: frequent wet spells expected for the remainder of September
- Generally beneficial for current crops and upcoming summer crop sowing (Nov-Dec)

Crop Outlook by Region

Gujarat

- Winter crop size continuing to diminish
- Summer crop (100,000-120,000 MT annually) compensating for winter decline
- Abundant rainfall may lead to slight decrease in quantity compared to last season
- Impact on pricing expected to be minimal

Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh

- Ideal rainfall patterns for sesame cultivation
- Positive outlook based on field observations

Rajasthan

- Mixed rainfall situation in growing areas
- Clear reports not yet available

Overall Sowing Report for sesame across India (as of August 30, 2024)

- Total area: 1.07 million hectares
- Comparison to 2023: 1.18 million hectares
- Year-on-year decline: Approximately 1%
- Current projection: Crop yield similar to last season

Market Dynamics

- Potential for India to be disconnected from global export market for Natural Seed if prices are too high
- Current international sesame prices: USD 1,150 - 1,200 per MT (CFR basis, origin-dependent) would keep our Hulled Sesame competitive.
- High likelihood of significant import volumes into India for price arbitrage, regardless of domestic crop size

Outlook

- Overall crop yield expected to remain stable
- Potential for increased imports due to favorable international pricing
- Continued monitoring of weather patterns and their impact on crop development recommended
